

Engagement Photography Packages

Most photographers offer a few Engagement Photography Packages for engagement photo shoots. These packages vary in price, location and number of photos.

Engagement photos are the perfect way to celebrate your love and ring! They also make great save the dates & invitations.

They are a great opportunity to get comfortable in front of the camera. This will help you feel more confident on your wedding day!

Engagement Sessions

Whether you have been engaged for a while or are just getting married, an engagement session is the perfect way to get used to being photographed in front of the camera before your wedding day. This will help you relax and feel more comfortable when your photographer is there to capture you saying your vows.

It's also a great opportunity for you to meet with your photographer and discuss the details of your wedding day. This will give your photographer the information they need to prepare for your shoot and help you get the photos you want on your special day.

Picking a location that means something to you as a couple is another fun way to customize your engagement session. Maybe it's the place where you first met or your favorite restaurant or even a local park where you walk your dog. It makes the photos more meaningful and reminds you of a special time in your relationship.

Pre-Wedding Session

A pre-wedding session is a session that takes place months before the wedding, usually in a location that has some significance to the couple. It can be a great way for couples to learn how to work with their photographer, and it can also help them feel more comfortable on the wedding day.

Some photographers offer a separate engagement shoot package, while others include an engagement session as part of their wedding package. Either way, a well-crafted shot list is essential for a successful session.

An engagement shoot is more than just fun snapshots; it's one of the first mile markers in your wedding planning journey, and it's a low-stress way to practice all sorts of flattering poses before your big day. Plus, it's a great way to get to know your photographer and to find out how they work – for example, how much direction they give you, how long they spend with each pose, etc.

Wedding Day Coverage

Many wedding photographers offer a variety of packages that include the day of coverage. These usually come with digital files and a full gallery that can be accessed or shared online. The price of these packages will vary depending on the location and the number of hours the photographer is expected to cover.

Wedding photography is a big investment, so it's important to shop around and get quotes from several different photographers before making a final decision. It's also a good idea to ask about the types of images the photographer typically captures and whether or not they can provide any guidance on poses or styling.

Engagement shoots are a great way to get to know your photographer and have some fun while capturing photos that will evoke happy memories years down the road. If your package doesn't include an engagement session, consider asking if it can be added on for an additional fee. If so, be sure to find out how long it will take to receive the edited photos.

Post-Wedding Coverage

Depending on your photographer's package and style, post-wedding coverage may include an online gallery for sharing or digital files with the rights to print. It also may include an album that can be a great way to share your memories with family and friends.

As you start to shop around for wedding photographers, be sure to ask about engagement sessions. They can be an affordable way to get beautiful photos and build excitement for your big day. They can also help you determine if the photographer is a good fit for your wedding plans.

An engagement photoshoot is a great opportunity for you and your partner to express your personalities and interests as a couple. It's a chance to get relaxed and have fun. Many couples choose to take their photos in natural settings, like a beach or park. Others opt for a more formal photoshoot with a dress or suit. Some couples even bring props that are meaningful to them, such as a favorite pet or their wedding date's favorite dessert.